ACADEMIC POSITIONS - DIVISION OF CARDIOLOGY

The Department of Medicine, Division of Cardiology, Schulich School of Medicine & Dentistry, at The University of Western Ontario, and its affiliated hospitals are seeking the following Cardiologists for full-time clinical academic appointments to The University of Western Ontario. Applicants should be certified, or eligible for certification, in Cardiology by the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada, or equivalent. Candidates must have an MD or equivalent, and must be eligible for licensure in the province of Ontario.

The University of Western Ontario is situated in picturesque London, Ontario, a city of approximately 340,000 along the banks of the Thames River. The City of London is a vibrant community with many family-friendly amenities and has one of the lowest cost of living rates in Ontario. The University of Western Ontario is a prominent academic institution that has made a commitment to balance its teaching and research mission and excel as a research intensive university. General information about the University can be found at <http://communications.uwo.ca/western/about.html>.

The Division of Cardiology is well-recognized and respected both nationally and internationally. The Division's 27 physicians provide secondary, tertiary and quaternary cardiovascular services for the City of London, Southwestern Ontario and beyond. The Division has the largest Royal College Subspecialty Training Program in the Department of Medicine. Research expertise within the Division is extensive.

CARDIAC CATHETERIZATION LABORATORY SERVICES & INTERVENTIONAL CARDIOLOGY (2 POSITIONS)

Two Interventionalists are required with one candidate being able to take a leadership position as the Director, with major responsibilities including recruitment of faculty, oversight of postgraduate training program in Interventional Cardiology and building research programs. Preference will also be given to candidates with formal training in advance heart failure/intervention and able to lead new initiatives in the percutaneous treatment of valvular disease and heart failure. In addition, preference will be given to those who have an established reputation of clinical expertise and research or teaching accomplishments. The candidates will be expected to mount independent research and be capable of attracting external research funding.

ECHOCARDIOGRAPHER

Preference will be given to candidates with fellowship training in echocardiography and additional formal training in either CMR/CTA and/or heart failure/transplantation and able to assume a leadership post within the Echo group as well as the ability to lead an independent career in research. The successful candidate will be expected to have a major research commitment and advance the research program within the Echocardiography group as well as the Division.

Applicants for all positions will also have a commitment to, and demonstrated aptitude for, teaching and will be expected to teach at the undergraduate and graduate levels and to supervise graduate trainees. Consideration of applicants will include an assessment of previous performance, qualifications, including qualifications which go beyond the requirements for the position, and experience. Rank, term of appointment and salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Those interested in applying for these positions should forward a curriculum vitae and have at least three letters of reference sent to:

Dr. Samuel Siu, Chair, Division of Cardiology, Department of Medicine
